2. [REDACTED] of OSI called regarding the possibility of getting [REDACTED] who is attending the Strategic Intelligence School and slated to go to [REDACTED] to come over to CIA for a special briefing before he leaves Washington. At the suggestion of [REDACTED], Deputy Director of Training, I called Col. Bogue who told me to whom I should refer such requests at the Pentagon. This information has been relayed to [REDACTED] of OSI.

3. [REDACTED] called regarding the initiating of the high-level weekly meetings. The draft of announcement on these will be ready as soon as we can determine with accuracy from Administrative Services the time when the Orientations Room will be out of service because of the installation of the air conditioning equipment. We expect to get this information momentarily and will immediately present the announcement to the Director of Training. Captain [REDACTED] also reminded me of the arrangement for the Strategic Intelligence School next course. It was interesting to note that Col. Bogue had dropped accidentally two requests from his letter to CIA, which he wishes to re-establish. When we hear from Col. Bogue we will complete the arrangements for all of those who are to participate on his next program.

4. We have officially learned of the installation of the permanent seating arrangements for our Orientations Room on Friday, April 18. This will give us better accommodations for all undertakings in the Room and especially the new weekly presentations.

5. Drafts have already been made of the "thank you letters" to go out following our Sixth Agency Orientations Program. These will be ready for Col. Baird's signature within the next few days. As in the past, an official report will be sent through along with the Sixth Program summarizing the various factors, not only of interest, but of use, for future planning.
